

Top 10 UK Beaches

www.holidaysfromhels.co.uk

1	Whiterocks, Northern Ireland	<ul> <li>White sand, arches, stacks and castle-clad cliffs</li> <li>Crystal waters</li> <li>Huge dune for running</li> <li>Both wild and city beach at the same time</li> </ul>	Beach tip: Head east for wilderness and west for beach front cafes
2	Porthcurno, Cornwall	<ul> <li>Jump off Thai style yellow boulders</li> <li>If you dare, follow the stairway, carved into the rocks leading to the open-air cliff-top Minack theatre</li> <li>Spot seals as you surf in the bluest of seas</li> </ul>	Beach tip : Head down early for a car parking space.
3	Porthmeor, St Ives	<ul> <li>Explore the cobbled streets of St Ives behind you.</li> <li>Breakfast at West beach café</li> <li>Hike the emerald water fringed headland (with seals).</li> <li>Hang out at beach cafes and bars right on the sand.</li> </ul>	Beach tip : Book ahead for a table at the glass fronted Porthmeor Beach Cafe

4	Durdledoor,	White cliffs	Beach tip: Don't jump from the
	Dorset	<ul><li>Golden sands</li><li>Natural arch for dive bombing</li></ul>	top.
5	West Bay, Dorset	Crazily steep and bright orange cliffs.	Beach tip : Don't sit directly under the cliffs. "Rocks may fall at any time"
6	Kynance Cove, Cornwall	<ul> <li>Aquamarine water and back-to-back dramatic rocky bays.</li> <li>Accessed by way of a steep coastal path</li> </ul>	Beach tip: The beach is only accessible at low tide.
7	Barafundle Bay, Pembrokeshire	<ul> <li>Stone arch entrance – like a Welsh Ancient Greece</li> <li>Remote location accessed via of coastal path</li> <li>Calm seas are great for swimming and boating</li> </ul>	Beach tip: Don't miss the National Trust cafe for pre/post beach cream teas by the car park at Stackpole Quay. Use the loo at the carpark before you go.
8	Perranporth, Cornwall	<ul> <li>Vast swathes of empty white sand</li> <li>Huge run-down-me dunes</li> <li>Don't miss the Watering Hole café/bar right in the middle of the sand</li> </ul>	Beach tip: A headland path takes you back the campsite when the tide comes in.
9	Croyde, Devon	<ul> <li>Do some surfing</li> <li>Play in and or run down sand dunes big enough to get lost in</li> </ul>	Beach tip: Hide and seek is a bad idea.

		<ul> <li>Walk the headland to Baggy Point (if it's not too windy)</li> <li>Hire a lodge just behind the dunes</li> <li>Head into the village for dinner and a drink in thatched Thatch</li> </ul>
10	Sennen Cove, Cornwall	Winner of my UK's whitest sand/bluest sea award.	Beach tip: Check out the pictures of the towering storm wave over the headland.
